Description

Short Pitch: Turn your desktop into an audio-reactive neon club. Desktop Rave: Idle Audio Club is an idle management game that lives on your desktop. Use your music to power the party, grow your crowd, and keep the club alive.

Long Description: Desktop Rave: Idle Audio Club transforms passive background music into a living, breathing desktop ecosystem. Whatever you play—whether it is Spotify, YouTube, or your own game audio—the club comes alive, syncing lights, visual effects, and the entire in-game economy directly to the beat of your music.

Engineered from the ground up to be completely frictionless, the game is built specifically for the background. Running at an incredibly optimized 300 draw calls with custom GPU-skinned crowds, the game uses virtually zero system resources. You can leave it running on a second monitor or hovering above your taskbar all day long without dropping a single frame in your main games or productivity apps.

Key Features

- Any Audio Works: Fully reactive to your system's desktop audio. Your music fuels the party.
- True Idle Gameplay: The club generates income and upgrades even while you are AFK.
- Massive Crowds: Watch hundreds of cute, fully animated potato ravers fill your screen without melting your CPU.

- Draggable & Borderless: Move the minimalist UI exactly where you want it on your screen to fit your workflow.

Content Creator & Streaming Guidelines

Music & DMCA: Desktop Rave: Idle Audio Club reacts to the audio you choose to play on your system. The game itself does not contain built-in copyrighted tracks that will trigger YouTube or Twitch Content ID claims. However, please be aware that if you play copyrighted music (such as Spotify playlists or YouTube videos) on your stream to drive the game's visuals, your stream may be flagged by the respective music rights holders.

Monetization: We fully support and encourage content creators, streamers, and reviewers to monetize videos and streams featuring the game.
